

March Newsletter

Thank you all for meeting with me at parent-teacher conferences. I enjoyed speaking with you and sharing insight about your children. I'm so proud of their accomplishments, progression and maturity. With a little practice, they'll all be ready for Pre-K before you know it.

We have many fun and exciting things planned this month. We will learn about animals, dinosaurs, Dr. Seuss and St. Patrick's Day, since apparently, everyone is Irish on that day! On March 5th and 6th we will celebrate "Read Across America" by reading Dr. Seuss books with our school mates. If you'd like to, please dress your child in a Dr. Seuss character (for example: Cat in the Hat, Thing 1 or 2, Horton the Elephant) or in any other character from their favorite book (for example: Pete the Cat, Pinkalicious, Rainbow Fish). Be creative with your ideas or simply put them in "regular clothes" with a hat or headband or something to make them feel like they're participating! There will be many fun crafts sent home in the coming weeks and a new St. Patrick's Day themed bulletin board very soon. Hopefully you'll also hear some interesting facts when we compare and contrast dinosaurs and other animals. We will even have a new sensory table filled with sand, shovels, dinosaurs and other animals. We plan on becoming paleontologists going on an archaeological dig!

Please note, although we won't have an official "party" on St. Patrick's Day, we have many exciting things planned. There will be a school wide event on March 17th and 18th that will begin with a special St. Patrick's Day story and then a mischievous leprechaun will visit leaving us his hat, footprints and clues on clovers to help us find his treasure box filled with gold and stickers. It is sure to be a very exciting day. Wear green!!

We will also continue with our letter of the week, have Dance Studio with Miss Carol as well as Chapel Time with Miss Holly. Thank you once again for your continued support. Happy almost springtime everyone!
