Employers	Employees	FMLA Leave	Emergency	of Leave	Leave?
Private employers engaged in commerce with fewer than 500 employees Employers with 50 or more employees are assumed to be engaged in commerce Employers with fewer than 50 employees are able to be exempt from providing expanded family and medical leave if they are able to show that complying with the requirements would jeopardize the viability of their business as a going concern	Employees who have been employed for at least 30 calendar days This includes employees who were laid off or otherwise terminated on or after 3/1/2020, had worked for the employer for at least 30 of the prior 60 calendar days, and were subsequently rehired or otherwise reemployed by the same employer	Leave for an employee who is unable to work in their workplace or cannot work remotely (telework) because they have to take a leave of absence due to: 1. the need to care for the employee's son or daughter (under 18 years of age) if the child's elementary or secondary school or place of care has been closed, or 2. the childcare provider is unavailable, due to a "public health emergency."	An emergency with respect to coronavirus which is declared by a local, state or federal authority (presumably, for example, Mayor, Governor, President).	If the need for expanded family and medical leave is foreseeable, employees shall provide employers with notice of the leave as soon as practicable Eligible employees are entitled to up to 12 weeks of leave	The employer can provide the first 10 days of leave unpaid, The remainder of any leave time for this reason must be paid at 2/3 the employee's regular rate of pay. There is a cap of $200 a day and $10,000 over the 12 weeks allowed for FMLA leave. During the first 10 unpaid leave days the employee can choose to use any accrued paid personal leave such as vacation leave or medical/sick leave for those first 10 days, including the paid sick leave created by the FFCRA	Employers with 25 or more employees are required to make reasonable efforts to return employees to the same or equivalent position after FMLA leave ends. If the reasonable efforts fail, the employer must make efforts to contact the employee and reinstate the employee if an equivalent position becomes available within a one-year of: (a) the date on which the qualifying need related to a public health emergency concludes, or (b) the date that is 12 weeks after the date the employee's leave started. Employees are not required to return employees to the same or equivalent position if: 1. the employee's position no longer exists due to economic conditions or other changes in operations that affect employment and are caused by the "public health emergency" during the period of leave; and 2. the employer makes reasonable efforts to restore the employee to an equivalent position.

Emergency Paid Sick Leave Act (EPSLA)

Employers Should Document and Retain Submitted Employee Information for EPSLA

Covered Employers	Eligible Employees and Amount of Leave	Leave Due to Employee's Health Issue	Leave to Provide Care for Another Person	Amount for Paid Sick Leave Due to Employee's Health Issue	Amount for Paid Sick Leave to Provide Care for Another Person	Employer Tax Credits for Paid Sick Leave
Private employers engaged in commerce with fewer than 500 employees Employers with 50 or more employees are assumed to be engaged in commerce Small employers with fewer that 50 employees may qualify for an exemption from the requirement to provide paid leave due to school, place of care or child care provider closings or unavailability if leave payments would jeopardize the viability of their business as a going concern	All employees of covered employers are eligible no matter how long they have been employed Covered employers must immediately make available 80 hours of paid sick leave for full-time eligible employees (ex. if employee works 40 hours per week that is two (2) full workweeks of sick leave) Eligible part-time employees are entitled to paid sick leave based on the average number of hours the employee worked over a 2-week period prior to taking sick leave.	 Full paid leave is available due to an employee's health issue for these reasons: 1. The employee has been directed or ordered by Federal, State or local authorities to quarantine or isolation order related to COVID-19. 2. The employee has been advised by a healthcare provider to self-quarantine due to concerns related to COVID-19. 3. The employee is experiencing symptoms of COVID-19 and seeking a medical diagnosis. 	 Partial paid leave is available for an employee to provide care for another person for these reasons: 1. The employee is caring for an individual who is subject to an order by Federal, State or local authorities to quarantine or isolation order related to COVID-19 or has been advised by a healthcare provider to self- quarantine due to concerns related to COVID-19. 2. The employee is caring for their son or daughter if their school or place of care has been closed or the childcare provider of the son or daughter is unavailable, due to COVID-19 precautions. 3. The employee is experiencing any other substantially similar condition (which will be specified in the future by the Secretary of HHS). 	Paid at the employee's regular rate of pay but is capped at $511 per day and $5,110 in the aggregate.	Paid at the employee's regular rate of pay but is capped at $200 per day and $2,000 in the aggregate.	The intent of the Act is that it be revenue-neutral for employers. The federal government will reimburse small and midsized businesses and nonprofit organizations for the costs they incur providing EPSLA or EFMLEA to their employees. Employers can take a dollar for dollar credit against their payroll taxes to reimburse themselves for the cost of paying for these leaves. If the amount an employer pays out under the program exceeds its payroll tax obligation, employers can immediately file for a refund. The refunds will be expedited and processed within 2 weeks. The leave must be provided between 4/1/2020 - 12/31/2020, to qualify. Equivalent credits are available to self- employed individuals who become ill or need to take time away from work to care for a family member.
